

CLOSING DAY OF STATE FAIR

A Great Success From Every Standpoint.

GOOD FINANCIAL SHOWING

LESS THAN HALF THE APPROPRIATION USED.

The state fair of 1901 has passed into history. At 11 o'clock last night held the closing "Home, Sweet Home" as a grand hint to the people that their presence was no longer desired and at midnight everything within the enclosure, both inside the building and out, was shut up tight. The close came none too soon, because everybody was completely worn out—exhibitors, officers and spectators.

The fair is voted a complete success in every particular. As an exhibition it is conceded to have been the best in the history of Utah. In point of attendance it fell below that of last year 2,500, and the total receipts fell below those of last year $625; but when it is considered that the fair came right on the heels of the Elks' carnival, and that the best day of the week was destroyed by a rain storm, the showing made it truly great, and reflects great credit upon the management.

Good Financial Showing.

President Empey and Secretary Sears said last night after the returns were all in that there would be plenty of money to pay off all the premiums and all the bills, and this without using half of the $3,000 appropriated by the state for the two years. Most of the cash premium and practically all the bills were paid off in full last night before the close of the fair, and Secretary Sears stated that there had never been a year when he had the affairs of the association so completely in hand when the closing came.

Judging from expressions heard there will be no time lost in getting to work on the improvements of the new grounds for next year's fair. President Empey stated last evening that he thought one or two men would be sent on a tour of inspection to visit a number of the best fair grounds in the country to get ideas to work into the Utah state fair grounds and buildings. It is certain that no Utah state fair ever closed with a better feeling all around than is the case with the fair of 1901, and this augurs well for the future.

The movement for keeping the fair open Sunday proved to be a fizzle. The sentiment was so strong against it that the subject was not even mentioned in the meeting of the board of directors. The fair closed at 12 o'clock sharp.

Changes Proposed.

President Nelson A. Empey went on record yesterday in favor of one radical change in the livestock department at the new fair grounds. There, he says, the stalls will be so arranged that the people can look at the heads of the horses and cattle instead of their tails.

The display of all the prize winners in the horse and cattle departments in the ring yesterday was marked success. The band added to the success by discoursing sweet music from the grandstand. The crowd was large and enthusiastic, and the exhibit of fine cattle and horses is acknowledged to have been the best ever made at a Utah state fair.

Just one formal protest against the awards of premiums was made during the entire fair, that of John Lyle against Mrs. Margaret A. Calne. This was the best record made in this respect in many years, and is evidence of the good feeling that prevailed throughout the exposition.

STATE FAIR NOTES.

Hewlett Bros. had over three tons of baking powder on their exhibit, and gave away over five barrels of cider in their hole in the wall, besides cigars, chewing gum and flowers in large quantities.

There was a horse and buggy stolen from Mrs. Hatch of Wood's Cross at the state fair yesterday afternoon, and up to a late hour last night the police had got no trace of the property. The horse was tied in the street at the west gate, and was missed at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

One of the funny things of the fair was the sign "Sand for Sale" in the exhibit of the Utah Sugar company. Another was the announcement on a very pretty rug that it was "made by hand."

On Friday, school children's day. Kottitz took in 1,800 nickels at his candy stand. His record for the day was $33, and over $120 for the week.

There was a little mix-up in the saloon late in the afternoon. Phil Fair ordered drinks and then, it is said, refused to pay them. John Dent, who was tending bar, came out to compel him to pay, and the two had a regular scuffle for a few minutes. Raleigh was badly cut up, but no arrests were made.

J. A. Wright of the state board of horticulture said yesterday that the fruit display this year was the best he had ever seen in Utah; the display was not so large, but the quality was the best. He did not think the display of peaches could be beaten by any state in the Union.

The Samoyas proved a drawing card at the fair. They go from here to Denver for five weeks, then to Fort Worth to the fair, and then to Denver for an opera house engagement, and from there they go to Havana, Cuba.

A very interesting feature of the fair yesterday was the work of the children in the exhibit of the state school for the deaf, dumb and blind. The children were almost smothered by the people anxious to see them in their regular school work.

Just before the fair closed, a relief from duty at the exposition building last night, Officers Brown, Davis, Palmer and Hurt were called into the office by President Empey and Secretary Sears. They had $5 as a mark of appreciation for the good work they had done in maintaining order.

The Huddart Floral company was awarded a special gold medal on its exhibit of palms. This was overlooked in the earlier days of the premium giving.

One of the best out-door features at the state fair yesterday was R. McKenzie's thoroughbred Kentucky mare "Twinkle." The beautiful, high-spirited little mare won the hearts of all who saw her, and Mr. McKenzie took pains to let everybody see her.

Governor Wells, Senator Kearns, Mayor Thompson, W. S. McCormick, Moses Thatcher and John E. Dooly were among the interested visitors at the fair yesterday, and all expressed themselves as very highly pleased with the showings made. Mayor Thompson said it was the best Utah fair he had seen, and that he noticed a very marked improvement in the livestock of the state.

PRETTIEST GIRL AT THE FAIR.

MISS LIZZIE BOREHAM.

Miss Lizzie Boreham of Salt Lake was awarded the Johnson company's gold medal for being the prettiest girl at the state fair on Friday evening, Oct. 4, 1901.

Fair Officials Well Pleased.

PRESIDENT N. A. EMPEY—I am more than pleased with the success of the fair. It has gone beyond my most sanguine expectations. I wish to congratulate and thank all the exhibitors. I wish to thank all who have helped to make the fair a success, including the officers, directors, exhibitors, judges and especially the press. I trust that the success of this fair will encourage all to put forth still greater efforts for the great fair we propose to give on the new grounds next year.

SECRETARY S. W. SEARS—I am certainly gratified over the success that has attended our fair. I have worked hard and have had loyal support from officers and directors. I attribute much of our success to changes inaugurated among the exhibitors and in other departments, and I feel that we have learned many valuable lessons.

DIRECTOR JOHN WHITE—In the cattle department the exhibits were all first class. In the short horn division a steady improvement is kept up from year to year, until the exhibit made this year is considered equal to the best in the country. The Herefords show that great judgment is used in the breeding; there is a marked improvement in this division over a year ago. It is to be regretted that the breeders of Devons, Angus, Red Polled and Galloway cattle do not think enough of their respective breeds to exhibit at the state fairs, and it is to be sincerely hoped that next year they will be all on hand.

WOOL GROWERS HOLD SESSION

Good Attendance at Association's Annual Meeting.

ENDORSE WAREHOUSE PLAN

SUPERINTENDENT BUCHER CONGRATULATES MEMBERS.

The Utah Wool Growers' association met in annual session yesterday afternoon at the city council chamber, and transacted business of importance to the sheep industry. The attendance was quite large and representative of all parts of the state. The executive committee, all of the officers were re-elected without opposition. In the morning, President Jesse M. Smith spoke of the good results to the wool growers of the state accomplished by the association since the last annual meeting. He mentioned the fact that the members of the association took an active part in the National Livestock association's convention in this city last week, and that they were able to make the meeting a success. The president urged the members who are delinquent in paying their dues to place themselves in a position to receive the benefits of the association, and to maintain the legal rights of the wool growers who are not lacking.

Major Bucher Speaks.

Major George F. Bucher, superintendent of the militia force, reserve, responded to an invitation to make a few remarks. He said that if it had not been for the excellent organization of the Utah Wool Growers' association it would have been impossible to have put up the splendid fight last summer against the depredations of the coyotes, and through the efforts of this association's executive officers the threatened order had been rescinded. He complimented the association on the faithful observance of the regulations in the Utah timber lands by the sheep grazers, and because of this there had been but few complaints and no fires worth mentioning. He believed that the government would consent to the continuance of the grazing arrangements next year in the reserve, but to him the problem was how to permit 300,000 head of sheep to be grazed when there was room for only two-thirds that many.

A vote of thanks was tendered Major Bucher for the impartial discharge of his duty as superintendent of the forest reserve.

Eastern Warehouse Scheme.

Wesley Paul of Boston, agent for the American Sheep Industry association, was accused of the scheme of making the Utah wool growers shareholders in the mutual association which has for its object the marketing of the wool in the eastern markets for the sale of wool without contracting with commission agents and other middlemen. The reports of Treasurer Richard and Secretary Callister, as approved by the executive committee, showed in detail that the revenues for the year amounted to $4,088.87, including a balance on hand of $813.21, and disbursements amounting to $3,949.21, leaving in the treasury $139.66. The larger part of the disbursements were for legal expenses. The delinquent list showed that about $5,000 is due from members, who pay the rate of $5 yearly on each 1,000 head of sheep owned by them.

President Smith begged to be relieved of the duties of the office, claiming that he could no longer afford to devote so much attention to it as he had during a tenure of five years. But the members declined to accept his declination and put through a resolution offered by E. P. Ellison, directing the executive committee to meet once a month and pay to the president all necessary expenses he had incurred in the performance of his duties, and in addition to allow him a reasonable amount for his time.

This done, the president accepted reelection, which had come unanimously by acclamation.

Without opposition E. H. Callister was re-elected secretary; W. L. Pickard, treasurer, and Heber A. Smith, vice-president. The election of three associate members of the executive committee resulted in the choice for James H. Moyle, E. J. Kearns and E. P. Ellison. Frank H. Rudy and Henry Harker were also balloted for and came close to winning out.

It was agreed that all of the county vice presidents now serving be declared re-elected.

SUNNYSIDE TRAGEDY.

Wife of a Victim Gives Account of the Accident.

The body of James Cunningham, who was killed by an explosion in No. 1 coal mine at Sunnyside early Thursday morning, together with Edward Hughes, was brought to Salt Lake City yesterday to be embalmed preparatory to removal to Rock Springs for burial. Mrs. Cunningham and her 12-year-old son accompanied the remains, stopping over night at the Kenyon.

"It was a terrible blow," said Mrs. Cunningham last night. My husband and his partner, Hughes, had set a blast. Upon its failure to explode they went to the spot to investigate. Without warning, the explosion followed, the concussion and falling stone killing both. We have always lived at Rock Springs, and are going there to conduct the funeral.

Services were held at Sunnyside yesterday for both victims and Hughes was laid to rest. He was from Wales and, so far as could be found, had no immediate relatives. Cunningham's funeral will occur Monday.

Shaken Faith.

A religious old lady had her faith badly shaken not long ago. He is a son of a white church in a Fayette county town, and one afternoon as he was out sweeping the pavement a strong wind arose, tearing a piece of the cornice off and taking a few bricks out of the wall. Realizing that a good run was better than a bad stand, the old man sought shelter in the station house on the opposite side of the street.

Several minutes later a member of the church of which Uncle Isham is sexton came by, and noticing him in his retreat remarked that he thought the station house a strange place for a man to fall to seek shelter in a storm when a house of worship was near.

"What was that?" a man glibly ter do when Lord begins to frown bricks at him?"

FRAUD CHARGED AGAINST MORRISON DEAL

Sensational Allegations Made Against Alviras E. Snow.

C. D. MORRISON PLAINTIFF

SAYS SNOW SECURED HIS PROPERTY BY FRAUD.

A suit was filed in the district court yesterday by Dickson, Ellis & Ellis, attorneys for C. D. Morrison, against Alviras E. Snow, the Morrison Mining company, W. S. Snow and Morton French, in which some sensational allegations are made against Snow, who is the secretary and treasurer of the defendant company. With the filing of the complaint a temporary restraining order was issued and served upon all of the defendants, commanding them to desist in doing the acts complained of by plaintiff, pending a trial of the case.

In the complaint it is alleged that on April 12, 1900, the plaintiff, Morrison, and Alviras E. Snow entered into a contract whereby plaintiff conveyed to Snow the Concordia group of four mining claims, situated in Humboldt district, Nev., valued at $20,000, to hold in trust until the corporation known as the Morrison Mining company, was organized in pursuance of the agreement. Thereafter, it is further alleged, the title to the property was conveyed to the corporation by Snow, and as was agreed upon Snow took 150,000 shares of the company's capital stock as his compensation for organizing the company at his own expense, and the plaintiff was allotted 150,000 shares of the stock, leaving 100,000 shares in the treasury to be used for working capital.

It is then set up in the complaint that Snow and Morrison agreed that neither would sell or dispose of his stock so long as the shares in the treasury remained unsold, and the plaintiff left his stock in the keeping of A. E. Snow, the company's secretary and treasurer.

Fraud is Charged.

The complaint further charges that during the month of June last, Snow, for the purpose of cheating and defrauding plaintiff out of his stock and coercing him into selling his shares to Snow for a nominal sum, fraudulently represented to plaintiff that he had been authorized by the board of directors to dispose of any of the treasury stock, but on the contrary had been compelled to donate 55,000 shares of his own (Snow's) stock to induce reasonable and influential men to become interested in the company. Snow further falsely represented to Morrison, it is alleged, that no price whatever could be obtained for any of the treasury stock and that because the company was in debt to Snow and it would be necessary to levy an assessment upon all the shares not in the treasury. It is alleged that Snow well knew that plaintiff could not pay his share of the assessment and on July 12 he induced plaintiff, it is charged, to part with 145,000 shares of his stock to Snow upon payment to him of $100 and taking his secured note for $400, payable in monthly installments of $100 each, and in addition to pay to plaintiff assessments upon Morrison's remaining 5,000 shares during this year. Morrison then gave an order to Snow authorizing the issuance of shares to the plaintiff's 145,000 shares.

Representations Were False.

It is then set forth that it was on Sept. 3 that plaintiff discovered for the first time that all of Alviras E. Snow's representations to him were false and untrue, it is alleged, and made for the purpose of cheating and defrauding Morrison out of his stock and coercing him into selling to Snow for a nominal sum. The complaint charges that Snow had sold 30,000 shares of the treasury stock to W. S. Snow, 72,500 shares and to Morton French, a relative by marriage, to Alviras E. Snow, the remaining shares of plaintiff, no valuable consideration being paid for the stock by them.

In the meantime Morrison tendered to Snow the $400 secured note, and of the sale contract and the unpaid promissory notes and demanded the return of his stock, upon which no assessment had been presented with live specimens of the following named fish: Eastern brook trout, native trout, grayling fry trout, rainbow trout, black bass, catfish, sunfish, carp, shiner or silver side, sucker, mountain her, herring or Williamson white fish. The fish will be kept in the aquarium in the biological department of the High school, where they may be seen and their growth and development from the present young stage until they are grown can be watched. The fish were among those exhibited at the state fair. The officers extend their thanks to Commissioner Sharp for the courtesy he has shown the department.

LABORER'S DAMAGE SUIT.

Bricklayer Smith Charges That M. J. Moran Slandered Him.

M. J. Moran was made defendant yesterday in an action commenced in the district court by Fred A. Smith to recover $275 damages. The complaint alleged that defendant threatened the services of plaintiff to superintend the erection of a house for plaintiff during the month of August at the rate of $4.75 a day, and that without cause Moran discharged plaintiff and abused him. It is further charged that Moran called Smith a "d—b—" and threatened when plaintiff sought a settlement with defendant, to encompass the loss of plaintiff's card in the labor union in which he holds membership. Smith claims that because of Moran's malicious acts he has been unable to get employment steadily at his trade, a reason since his disagreement with defendant.

District Court Orders.

The following orders were entered in the district court yesterday: H. E. Rookledge vs. the Queen of Sheba Gold Mining & Milling company; judgment for plaintiff on defendant's default for $237.70. S. S. Hudson vs. F. J. Fabian; defendant's motion to dismiss granted. Defendant plaintiff does not file a cost bond in reply for $25.00.

F. E. Wilson vs. J. T. Fulton; demurrer sustained and ten days allowed plaintiff to amend complaint.

A. S. Watson vs. Jay T. Harris; same order.

Anna Munz vs. Standard Life Insurance company; demurrer overruled and ten days allowed to answer complaint.

Bingham Coal & Lumber company; same order.

A. T. Schroeder vs. A. F. Lawson; dismissed at plaintiff's request.

case of Massachusetts. A fact worthy of note is that the old disease gives $100,000 in cash to the new one, besides turning over to it much valuable church property. The principal gift in the case was made entirely by voluntary contributions.

A NEW QUESTION.

Is Roosevelt Twenty-fifth or Twenty-sixth President. (New York World.)

Just twenty-five persons (no more and no less) have been called to the presidential chair from Washington to Roosevelt, so that the latter cannot, by any possibility be the twenty-sixth, who has not yet arrived any more than has "George V" of England. There has never been an interregnum in our government, never a "pretender," and never an instant that the presidency was occupied or claimed by more than one person at a time. We have had twenty-nine presidential elections, and five vice presidents have come to the chair, making in all thirty-four assumptions of the office. Now, Mr. Roosevelt is either the twenty-fifth president—that is, the thirty-fifth person who has assumed the office—or he is the thirty-fourth president, reckoning terms and parts of terms, but by no possible juggling with figures can he be made to be the "twenty-sixth."

I presume this queer mistake originated in the second election of Mr. Cleveland, who was the first president re-elected with an intervening term. When first elected he was the twenty-second president, but was reconsidered, when elected again eight years afterward, the twenty-fourth, that is, making that gentleman two distinct persons. George Washington was elected in 1788 and again in 1792, but was re-elected in 1792 on that account the "second president," it seems to me, would be a gross absurdity.

JACK HAD SOME FUN.

Fixed Up a Little Specimen for Some of the Experts.

(Montpelier Examiner.)

Jack Wedel is the boss joshier of Idaho. Since the mining boom has struck Montpelier there is a dearth of "experts" who are always ready to offer valuable (?) mining knowledge to every exhibitor and who can tell, by looking at a piece of rock, just what it contains and where it came from. Well, Jack Wedel, to test the marvelous gifts of some of the experts, so he took a piece of coal slate out of the coal scuttle and, with the aid of a scale, mullage and some copper filings, he made a pretty good specimen of black copper ore. Of course, Jack showed it to every "wise" mining man in town, but a couple of them pronounced it first-class and a high grade ore.

Jack's little scheme has lessened his estimate of the value of many local experts' opinions as to ore and he has come to the conclusion that there are some classes of rock at least that even the wisest of them get fooled on.
